Associated Students

An organization of interest to all and of much importance is the Associated Students. Every student is automatically a member.

Sigfred Nelson, president; Richard Hicks, vice-president; Nancy Cleary, secretary; and Helen Wilson, treasurer headed the organization the first semester. The second term officers were: Bob Thomson, president; Bob Roe, vice-president; Morgan Bartlett, secretary; and Helen Wilson, treasurer.

School sports, dances, plays, and other entertainment that make school life so pleasant, are controlled by the student body.

The annual sale of activity tickets was exceptionally large this year. A new rule was made requiring that anyone participating in any activity have a ticket. As before these cards were admission to many events. Their sale made possible many looked-forward-to occasions.

All this and other student money was budgeted and its spending supervised by the Board of Control. The membership of the Board is composed of two representatives, a boy and a girl, from each class. They are elected for a two semesters term, with one person elected every semester.

Besides controlling the money, the Board plans many of the pay assemblies in the student organization.

Mr. Hoffland, Mr. McGibbon, Mr. Hatch, and Mr. Caudill guided the organization over the rough places.

Boys' Club

The Boys' Club of E. H. S. was a most active organization this year. With Vic Rendler, president; Bob Roe, vice-president; and Bob Thomson, secretary, they provided a number of fine programs and entertainments.

Noon movies were sponsored by the Boys' Club, and they co-operated with the Girls' Club in writing an etiquette book for high school students.

Those men attending Dads' Night were entertained by the University tumbling team and guest speaker, Al Ulbrickson. This annual event proved to be the most popular of all the Boys' Club programs, and an exceptionally large crowd attended.

Mr. Paul McGibbon and Mr. S. C. Caudill were the advisers this year.

Girls' Club

A most active and successful year has just been completed by the Girls' Club.

Getting off to a peppy start at the first meeting with a mixer they next added military spice to the Vodvil. Not satisfied with this, a gay Christmas party enabled baskets to be filled for unfortunate families. Boys' hearts beat faster when girls turned escorts to the annual Tolo. As a finale to the year's events the girls entertained their mothers at the Mothers' Day Tea, May 6.

This year middy awards were given girls who had worn middies for twelve consecutive weeks.

The officers were: Arleen Otto, president; Florence Beam, vice-president; and Shelleah Williams, secretary. Advisers were Miss Jones and Mrs. Evans.

The Echo With a reduced budget, the 1937-38 annual staff buckled down to the task of putting out a pictorial annual on less money.

Warne Sanders was appointed editor; Irene Miles, assistant editor; Roy Weller, business manager; Allen Solemslie, photo editor; and Katherine Johnstone, art editor. Jean Stewart, June Lumsden, Betty Barkemeyer, Arnold Andersen, and Carol Bucklin were assistant editors. Edith Pringle and Minnie Lu Horning worked on the art staff, and Florence Beam, Carol Bucklin, Frances Howell, Marion Kerr, and Patsy Podas sold ads.

Student Life was chosen as the motif. Pictures became the guiding light and the candid camera was used to advantage.

Art Club A valuable new-comer to the activity groups of Edmonds high school is the Art Club. Comprised of seven members, it began its activities in November with Katherine Johnstone, president; Lois Browder, vice-president; and Louise Hammon, secretary. Later three new members added their talents to the group.

The main work of the organization has been in advertising school activities. The colorful football and basketball posters, the vodvil, junior and senior play advertisements, and placards for the school dances resulted from the efforts of the members. They also printed the menus posted daily in the cafeteria.

With the guidance of Miss Berg, the club's first year has been worthwhile and profitable.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, the national honorary society for high school journalists, started off early this year. With four returning members, the first meeting of the term was to elect officers. Irene Miles was elected president, and Arnold Andersen was chosen secretary.

The biggest event on the Quill and Scroll calendar was the initiation at the University of Washington. The Edmonds chapter initiated forty in the private dining room at the Commons. High schools from all over the Pacific Northwest were represented at this, the largest Quill and Scroll initiation west of the Rockies.

In April the society and the journalism classes visited Seattle papers. A picnic was held in the spring to end a colorful year.

Wireless

The Wireless, the high school weekly, is put out by the journalism II class under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Allison and the editor. The paper is given out on Thursdays to those students who are stamp-book holders. The cost of printing and publication is taken care of through the student body fund.

This spring the two journalism classes visited some journalism classes of other schools and also went through the plants of some of the Seattle newspapers.

The editors were Arnold Andersen for the first semester, and Bill Hardman for the second semester.

Torch

With the largest group in the history of Torch in Edmonds high school the honor society has completed a successful year under the direction of Mrs. Bliss. Orland Christensen, Warne Sanders, Dorothy Goulet, Allison Cox, Jack Bartley, Sigfred Nelson, Irene Johnson, and Shirley Langlois had their Torchbearer pins.

The initiation held in November was followed by a dinner and a theater party.

Then the group entertained the assembly with a program in November. Next came the roller skating party in February, and in May the annual Torch picnic.

Officers were Dorothy Goulet, president; Jack Bartley, vice-president; and Vesta Weller, secretary-treasurer.

In April their annual dance was held. The idea of April showers and that of the superstition of stepping on spiders causing rain, were carried out on a grand scale by the decoration committee headed by Shirley Langlois. A fair crowd danced until twelve to the music of the Mellowderes.

Student Patrol

The patrol is an organization whose main purpose is to serve the school by seeing that various school events run smoothly and speedily.

The members keep order in the buses, assist the driver in every way possible, and see that nothing happens to the buses while they are away from the garage. The members help regulate traffic at games and other activities, and assist in parking cars.

This year marked the beginning of this group in Edmonds — which is the only one of its kind here.

In charge of the group is Mr. Roy Ballou, who has divided the group according to classes. Bob Hanbey is at the head of the group as a whole. The senior captain is Aubrey Hamilton, the junior captain, Bob Roe, sophomore captain, Dean Echelbarger, and the freshman captain, Bill Lance.

Beside the chief and captains the group has a secretary, Bergliot Overland. Three other girls belong to the organization.

Radio Club

The Edmonds High School Radio Club was organized in 1933-34 with Don Reid as president. For 1934-35 Harrison Wright was elected president.

During 1935-36 Ed Plimpton headed the club. In 1935 the group turned out its first operator when Albert Scott received his license. Shortly afterward Jim Chard received his license. George Blough received his in the fall of 1936.

In 1936 Albert Scott became the club's first, and so far the only Class A operator with unlimited radio telephone privileges.

For 1936-37 George Blough was elected president. In 1937 the school board presented the club with a transmitter. In June 1937 Carl Juhola received his license.

Albert Scott was elected president for 1937-38. In May 1938 the club, on their field day excursion, conducted two ship to shore radiotelephone communications.

Stage Crew

Another year of hard work and good times ended for the stage crew under their able adviser Mr. Goble, and stage manager, Vic Rendler.

One of the first social affairs of the year was their initiation and banquet held in November. Although a bit rough on the aspiring neophytes, everyone had a good time.

A party after the senior play, March 18, a swimming party in April and a gala skating party at Playland rounded out their calendar.

The hardest and most satisfying job of the year according to all of the twelve members was the "Family Album" set and lighting at the P.-T. A. Carnival. Many compliments were received for this piece of work.

Lettermen Under their adviser, Coach Warren Bieber, thirty-two members of the Lettermen's Club raised money for the athletic benefit, and revised the athletic awards.

The letter group gave the school a trophy designated as an inspirational award. On this plaque is to be engraved the name of the football player and of the basketball player who have been of greatest inspiration to the team. Captain Jesse Lowe was the first to have his name engraved for the football player, and Captain Sigfred Nelson the first to have his name inscribed for basketball.

Officers for the year were: President—Bob Roe, vice-president—Richard Hicks, secretary-treasurer—Richard Ellingsen.

Letterwomen At the first meeting of the Letterwomen's Club in September, election of officers was held. Hazel Solemslie was elected president; Ethel Janet, vice-president; and Nancy Cleary, secretary.

The year's big event for the organization was the barn dance, "Turkey Strut" held November 20 in the gymnasium. This dance was presented by both letterwomen and lettermen. Beside this activity the letterwomen held two initiations of their own original variety and took part in the All School Vodvil.

Under their new adviser, Miss Fae Brechner, the girls have had a number of good times, and held several of their meetings at her Alderwood home.

They enjoyed both a roller skating and an ice skating party in the spring.

Senior History

Wide-eyed and wondering, one hundred freshmen entered the portals of high school to be exposed to a higher education.

The next year eighty-eight came back, older and wiser, to carry on. They participated in high school athletics and made their debut with a class party.

Under the guiding hands of Mrs. Grace E. Bliss and Mr. E. T. Parsons they next prepared for their rigorous senior year. In the third year they had twelve Torch members and ten lettermen. They further showed their talents in their junior play, "New Fires," an amusing three-act comedy.

The annual junior prom was a gala affair with a red, white, and blue color scheme. They closed an active year with a picnic at Silver Lake and a Commencement Dance in honor of the seniors.

Returning in September, 1937, eighty remaining seniors agreed to make their last year a full one.

They started out with a senior ball in the second semester. A formal affair, with balloons as the main decoration, it drew a large crowd.

The next event on their calendar was the class play "Kempy," given on March 25 to an appreciative and large audience.

On May 9, they went to Lake Wilderness on that day of all days, Senior Skip Day.

An active year was closed with Baccalaureate, May 22, and Commencement, June 3.

Ranking as the ten highest members of the senior class were Jack Bartley, Sigfred Nelson, Warne Sanders and Orland Christensen (tied), Harold Meyer, Shirley Langlois, Allison Cox, Dorothy Goulet, Carl Juhola, Irene Johnson, and Nancy Cleary.

This year a new honor was given to prominent seniors. Twelve seniors were chosen by their fellow classmates to be honored by having a special page dedicated to them in this year's annual. The twelve so honored were Sigfred Nelson, Hazel Solemslie, Bud Weller, Irene Miles, Warne Sanders, Jesse Lowe, Dorothy Goulet, Arleen Otto, Orland Christensen, John Barnes, Vic Rendler, and Arnold Andersen. There were eleven lettermen and ten letterwomen.

This versatile class was not only outstanding in athletics, but thirteen members were Torchbearers.

Orland Christensen, Harold Kelly, and Harold Meyer received "Superior" ratings at the Everett district music meet.

Junior History

One hundred and seventeen strong, the juniors elected the following officers at the first class meeting: Jennie Korshaven, president; Bob Downing, vice-president; and Henning Nelson, secretary. The officers for the second semester were Florence Beam, president; Walt Rosen, vice-president; and Hubert Coyne, secretary.

Under the direction of Mrs. Bliss the play, "Spring Fever," was presented on December 11.

In selecting their pins and rings, the class voted in favor of a streamlined design.

With the Hollywood idea prevailing, the juniors held their annual party in the form of a dance, March 25. Amid life-sized portraits of famous movie stars, the guests of the class danced to the music of Eddie Duchin and his Cocoanut Grovers otherwise known as the Mellowderes.

The class boasted twenty-six Torch members.

The night of Commencement the juniors honored the graduating seniors with an exclusive junior-senior dance.

Decorating for Commencement and Baccalaureate was the final job for the class of '39 to handle as juniors. As a last fling in the school year 37-38 the annual picnic was enjoyed when everyone as usual had a rousing good time.

So under their advisers, Mrs. Bliss, Mr. Parsons, and Miss Allison the seniors-to-be finished their busiest year so far.

Sophomore Class

Under the capable leadership of the advisers, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Brechner, and Mr. Bieber, and the class officers the class of '40 has journeyed successfully through the year.

The sophomore class contributed fine material in music with a large representation of its members in the band, orchestra, and glee clubs.

The boys of the class made a splendid showing in the various athletics — baseball, football, basketball, track, and tennis.

The girls also participated for class honors by offering keen competition to the other classes in girls' athletics.

The annual dance was carried on in an unusual manner with everyone dressed in kiddy costumes. Beside the dance games were played for the benefit of those not dancing.

With May came bright warm days, spring fever, and the class picnic. This is probably the most looked-forward-to event of the year for the members of the class.

All sophomores hope to carry on in the future as successfully as they have this year, and to achieve greater things in the two remaining years of high school life.

Freshmen

Green and unaccustomed to the newness of attending high school, the one hundred and fifteen freshmen entered school on September 8, much bewildered by the routine.

At the beginning of the year the class assembled to elect Eric Carlson to the only office — that of president. Mary Miller, Bill Lance, and Phil Roe were selected to represent the class on the Board of Control.

The freshmen did not attend many of the dances or social activities of the school, but at the end of the year, the class gave themselves a picnic held on the shores of Silver Lake.

Some representatives of the class could be seen turning out for every major and minor sport on the list at Edmonds High. Many of these boys appear to be the aspiring and promising athletes of the next three years.

Those boys who were on the junior high basketball team were Dick Taylor, Bernard Spielman, Walter Goulet, Bill Duke, Fred Jones, Jim Busch, Bill Eldridge, Phil Roe, Eric Carlson, and George Eley.

Both boys and girls took much interest in and advantage of the many clubs and organizations offered to the student of the school.

The class was guided throughout the year by Miss Eula Curry and Mr. Paul McGibbon.

Football Dedication of the new high school athletic field on October 23 was the feature of the 1937 football season. The Tigers played magnificent ball, holding their traditional rivals, the Snohomish Panthers, to a 14-14 deadlock.

Present at the dedication ceremony were Governor Martin and Norman Kunde who spoke to a crowd of 1500, a new record for attendance at a football game in Edmonds.

This season, led by Captain Jesse Lowe, the squad extended its record of no defeats on the home field to two years.

A new A-league was formed this year to include Arlington, Marysville, Monroe, Snohomish, and Edmonds. Marysville became the first champion, defeating all opponents by overwhelming scores. Edmonds tied with Snohomish for second place.

When Captain-elect Hicks leads his squad onto the practice field next fall the group will lack many sterling athletes whose services will be lost because of graduation or of ineligibility. However, if the line can be successfully rebuilt to match the veteran backfield the Tigers will again be in there battling for top honors.

Basketball A hustling group of Edmonds hoopsters never overcame the handicap of an early-season losing streak and ended their basketball season in the cellar position of the Snohomish County Class A League.

In pre-season games Coach Warren Bieber pitted his quintet against some of the strongest teams in Northwest Washington. Of the pre-season games the Tigers won only from Sumner.

In league play Edmonds finished the last half by winning from the league leaders, Arlington and Marysville.

The varsity squad consisted of six seniors: Paul Feroe, Aubrey Hamilton, Bob Hanbey, Captain Sigfred Nelson, Ed Orner, John Roberts, and four juniors: Morgan Bartlett, Bob Roe, Ralph Johansen, and Bob Downing. Nelson received the squad vote for the inspirational award.

The second team consisted of one senior, Roy Weller, three juniors: George Kallstrom, Grant Matzen, and Bob Cosman, and four sophomores: Jack Bartlett, Clinton Bucklin, Johnny Johnson, and Charlie Johnson.

Although the loss of many strong seniors will be keenly felt the squad vows that they will reverse the 38 standing and put Edmonds in the win column next year.

Track

Thirty-five tracksters answered Coach Warren Bieber's call this year. In Richard Ellingsen, John Bangerter, Bob Roe, and Morgan Bartlett, Coach Bieber finds an 880 relay team with possibilities. Other trackmen who look good are Bill Meyring and Aubrey Hamilton, distance men, then Ellingsen in the high jump, and Bartlett and Roe in the broad jump. Bob is present county champ in the high hurdles and Morgan is county low hurdle champion.

Last year Annis Hovde and Dick Slye won first places in the northwest district meet in the high jump and discus events, and later competed in the state finals. Hovde tied the winner at 6 feet.

Tennis

Only once in many years has Edmonds Hi failed to qualify one or more players for the district tournament. One year, five players so qualified. The name of Edmonds is written on practically all the cups now in permanent storage.

Last year Ray Irby won first in the county singles, inscribing the name of Edmonds at the base of a new statue. The tops in this year's squad seem to be Paul Feroe and Mark (alias Bill) Servey in singles; Sig Nelson and George Armstrong are bearing the brunt of the doubles.

Roy Weller, another senior on the squad stands a better-than-even chance of winning a letter. Bob Storm, Arland Smith, Myron Sjoblom and Jack Tuson look like the doubles torch bearers for next year. However Phil Roe and Richard B. Taylor are bidding for a place. Jack Bartlett, Bob Coomer and possibly Eric Carlson along with other aspirants will be fighting for a place in the singles openings.

Baseball

The King of Sports, baseball, is proving to be a more popular sport every year at Edmonds.

Although this is only the third year in which the Tigers have played competitive baseball, the team showed considerable improvement.

A factor which should not be overlooked is the way students have supported the team although it is nearly a new sport here.

Under the supervision of Coach E. T. Parsons, the team showed talent and hustle — a winning combination in any league.

Statistics for the '38 season cannot be recorded in this annual, for when it went to press the conference games were barely under way.

With all lettermen but one returning from last year's squad, the Tigers looked like a winning team.

Out of six conference games in '37, Edmonds split evenly, winning three and losing three.

Next year the Tigers will come back in full strength with a team that has had three years of baseball experience tucked under its belt.

Girls' Athletics

One has only to see the Physical Education classes arrayed in their blue gym suits to realize that athletics for girls has come into its own. Because of these uniforms Edmonds made a fine showing at all sports days as no girl was allowed on the floor unless she wore one of the blue suits. These uniforms were bought at the suggestion of the new director, Miss Fae Brechner.

Miss Brechner immediately divided the year's sports in such a fashion as to put each of the nine letterwomen in charge of one major sport or of a group of minor sports. Nancy Cleary took charge of speedball, Helen Wilson of volleyball, Arleen Otto managed basketball, Ethel Janet took care of baseball and track, Jeanette Hirzel of tennis, Hazel Solemslie supervised the hiking, and minor sports were carried on under the direction of Peggy Lookey and Shirley Echelbarger.

To make up the first and second teams all girls who were chosen for class teams take a test on the rules of the sport. Girls with the highest grades make the school teams.

The first major sport of the year was speedball. Approximately sixty-five girls were driven to Marysville by the genial chauffeur, Mr. Pennock, who never fails to have a large bag of apples tucked away for the girls' benefit. That sports day did not take place because of rain at Marysville, but the girls managed to have a good time at home.

Volleyball sports day was held at Snohomish. Here in Edmonds the first and second teams in volleyball had a play-off before the school. Much to the chagrin of the first team, they lost, not only the game, but quite a number of rash wagers.

Basketball sports day was held here. Both the gym and the field house were used for morning games after which Mrs. Howell served a well-balanced and appetizing lunch.

Baseball sports day has not taken place yet, but it is going to take place at Monroe May 28.

In the fall Monday nights were devoted to sixteen girls on the drill team. They performed at the Dedication Day football game.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays the girls turned out for speedball. By going to fifty per cent of the turn outs they were allowed to go to sports day.

The tumbling team, consisting of sixteen girls, met on Fridays. This team had an act in the All School Vodvil. A temporary team was chosen by Miss Brechner and followed by a final one, composed of the girls who attained the highest number of points on the stunts during the winter. Miss Brechner was pleased to see that all but four of the girls on the temporary team made the final one.

In the spring, baseball substituted for speedball on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The tennis season has been an exceptionally good one because so many extra matches were played. In order to lengthen the competitive season a squad of ten girls was picked. Places for the squad were selected at the opening of each match thus keeping the girls alert and making for keener competition.

With the close of the tennis season came the end of this school year of sports in which approximately ninety-five per cent of all the girls in school participated.

String Quartet

Although newly formed this year, the Boys' String Quartet received wide acclaim and popularity. It consisted of five boys — Orland Christensen, first violin; Willis Stubbs, second violin; Delmer Owens, cello; Bill Niederhauser, bass; and Warne Sanders, piano.

Miss Brechner directed the ensemble.

They prepared a number of selections to play at various occasions in community programs. Several of the boys had their first experiences at making orchestrations. Some of these were played at different times during the year.

After their debut at the Vodvil, they received many calls to play for dinners, P.-T. A. meetings, musicals, etc.

But their big work of the year was learning Mozart's "Serenade in Four Movements," a difficult number for a group of amateur high school students to play. After weeks of intensive study and work, they played it at the Music Meet at the University of Washington where they received the rating of Superior.

Under the capable direction of Miss Brechner the boys gained much satisfaction from working as a well organized musical group.

Girls' Ensemble

Twelve girls made up the Ensemble this year. With Miss Blanche Sheltraw as their new director they sang several songs at different school functions. Because their only opportunity for practice was one eighth period each week all the girls had to work hard in order to prepare numbers for presentation.

The first number presented by the ensemble was for the occasion of the All-School Vodvil. Their act consisted of a ballet dance by one of the members accompanied by the rest of the girls, singing "My Sweet Little Alice Blue Gown." They all wore long dresses of blue.

Later in the year they sang two numbers, "Sympathy" and "Stardust" for a high school P. T. A. meeting.

At the Mother's Day Tea, May 6, the ensemble sang "The Songs My Mother Used to Sing."

The last event of the year for the Ensemble was the annual Spring Concert which was held in the high school auditorium May 20.

Orchestra

The orchestra under the direction of Miss Fae Brechner, has contributed much to the social success of Edmonds high school throughout 1937-38. First the orchestra furnished the musical background for the All-School Vodvil, then played at the junior and senior plays, at several assemblies, and for a county P. T. A. convention held in Edmonds.

The group assisted in the Spring Concert, and finished the year by providing musical color for the Commencement exercises of the seniors.

Probably the outstanding event of the year was their playing in the Western Washington Music Contest at the University of Washington. There they received the rating of "excellent"— the highest award given to any orchestra in the contest.

Through the efforts of its competent director, and of the students making up the group, the orchestra has made a showing that the school and community can well be proud of.

Band

The rating of "Excellent" received at the Northwest Music Meet and the five band soloists who were rated "Superior" at the contest in Everett, definitely marked the year 1937-38 as a banner one for this Edmonds musical group.

Bertha Schroeder, Harold Meyer, Allen Meyer, Bill Niederhauser, and Harold Kelly received the "Superior" ratings in the clarinet, French horn, bass horn, and trumpet divisions. Winston Norgar received "Excellent" in the trombone division.

Earlier, the band played at the Puyallup Fair, took part in the dedication of the athletic field, entered the Everett music festival and played for the P. T. A. carnival.

The fine showing as a group and as soloists attests to the excellent direction and instruction of the director, Mr. W. H. Osborn, and to the diligence of the members of the group.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club, composed of forty musical-minded students enjoyed an active and satisfactory year. Under Miss Sheltraw's direction their first public appearance was at the students' night at the M. E. Church. Next came the All-School Vodvil in which the Glee Club also took part.

With these activities over the big event of the year, the music meet at the University of Washington was planned for. Deciding uniform dress would be a big help toward a high rating, the girls voted to wear white sweaters with purple and gold emblems, black skirts and white shoes. After obtaining permission from the Board of Control they earned enough money to buy all the emblems by sponsoring two food sales. Thus arrayed in the new sweaters and skirts they sang at Anderson Hall, April 29.

As the finale to a successful year the Club sang at the Baccalaureate exercises.

Chorus

A very active organization was the chorus. During the year this musical group was in several programs and started out with Christmas carols. The chorus strolled the halls from top floor to basement, warbling the merry tunes of St. Nicholas and the more solemn ones that portrayed the birth of the Christ-child.

Miss Sheltraw, who was the new director this year, entered the chorus, both as a whole and in small groups, in the vodvil.

At one of P. T. A. meetings the chorus sang three numbers entitled, "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," and "The Vesper Hymn."

The chorus also participated in the Spring Concert and the annual Everett Festival.

Two numbers were sung by the chorus at the Baccalaureate program, thus winding up the year's activities for this organization.

Don Evans was the accompanist for the chorus.

Mellowderes

The high school jazz orchestra, was organized at the beginning of school by Miss Fae Brechner. They were labeled the "Mellowderes" at the senior dance and kept that name the rest of the year.

String instruments were played by Bill Niederhauser, who did his part on the bass fiddle, and Orland Christensen the violinist. The noisemaker and time setter, was Ted Benn, the drummer.

Wilber Schroeder, trumpet player; Cy Plimpton, clarinetist; Winston Norgar, trombonist; and Mr. Jewell the saxophone player made up the brass section of the orchestra. Helen Wilson, pianist, kept the ivory keys moving.

Substitute players were: Warne Sanders, Willis Stubbs, and Bill Meyring.

The letterwomen's "Turkey Strut", senior and junior dances, Girls' Club Tolo and the Torch "April Showers" dances featured music by the "Mellowderes."

Debate

Edmonds high school has been fairly successful in debate. In the last ten years we have had teams in competition seven times. In this competition three district championships have been won. Last year the area of conquest included a good part of the State of Washington.

A squad without one year of practice, generally stands very little chance of getting more than experience as a reward for their efforts. Nevertheless the work is intensive and exceedingly valuable. We feel that John Barnes and Vivian Sweet represented us well this year and might have gone far if they had decided one year earlier to enter competition. Both belong to the class of '38. Farewell, and well done!

Honorable mention should be given to Don Evans and Peggy Lookey who did much work and furnished much of the competition that enabled Vivian and John to represent old Edmonds Hi so well.

Senior Play

The seniors of Edmonds high school presented "Kempy" as their class play on March 18. It was a rollicking three act comedy of errors concerning the family of "Dad" Bence, wealthy retired harness manufacturer. The Bences were largely governed by the whims and fancies of Kate, the second daughter. Kate, a petted and spoiled modern young girl with expensive tastes and artistic fancies, got herself and the rest of the family in much trouble. She wrote books, painted, studied nursing, decided on a stage career, and finally executed a run-away marriage to a man she had known only an hour. Matters were finally straightened out and the affairs of the Bence family were once more going at a normal pace when Kate gave up her stage career and had her marriage annulled, in order to marry her real sweetheart.

The cast of characters included: Kate, Irene Miles; Dad, Orland Christensen; Ma, LaVern Durbin; Kempy, Harold Leise; Jane, Edith Pringle; Duke, Harry Einmo; Ruth, Arleen Otto; and Ben, Richard Ellingsen.

The managers of the committees working on the play included Shirley Langlois and Arnold Andersen as business managers, Helen Anderson had charge of the programs, Dorothy Goulet and June Lumsden collected properties, and Nancy Cleary had charge of the staff of doormen and ushers. The posters were made by the Art Club, and the prompter was Marion Kerr.

Miss Luella Jones, Mrs. Murphy, and Mr. Hoffland acted as a try out committee. Mrs. Murphy directed the play.

Junior Play

"Spring Fever" in December was the peculiar state of the junior class this year.

However "Spring Fever" was the name of the comedy in three acts about the trials and tribulations of the modern youth which the class presented. Brookfield College at commencement week was the setting. A fog of excitement had fallen over the hopeful seniors. Among many of the difficulties are the exams, planning for parties, preparing for graduation, and taking care of visiting parents. At Mrs. Spangler's boarding house live three of the graduating seniors, a zoology student having his own troubles getting his grades in order to pass, an art major who causes his share of trouble with his models, and a chemistry student who delights in making explosives and trying them out in the house, much to the disgust of the rest of the roomers. Their three girl friends who are also graduating take an active part in keeping the Spangler boarding house one round of excitement. Matters are made worse by an old maid aunt, a "buggy" zoology professor, a society mother, and a wealthy misunderstood husband.

The cast included: Allen Meyer, Howard; Patsy Podas, Anne; Lindsay McClenny, Ed; Joe O'Toole, Vic; Helen Weigel, Lou; Jean McClelland, Mrs. Spangler; Marian Freer, Vivian; Henning Nelson, Henry; Ruth Pedersen, Phoebe; Betty Leader, Maud; Dick Fagan, Professor Bean; and Bill Niederhauser, Mr. Dixon.

The chairmen and managers were Hubert Coyne as business manager, Bill Hardman head of Wireless publicity, and Jean Stewart head of the ushers.

Anita Christensen was the prompter and the play was directed by Mrs. Bliss.

Vodvil

Hightide, the all-school vodvil of 1937-38 was one of the highlights of the year.

Directed by Miss Peltier, Miss Sheltraw, Miss Curry, Miss Brechner, Mrs. Murphy and Mr. Hiersch and student managers Hazel Solemslie and Warne Sanders, it was enjoyed by a full house both nights.

The orchestra, directed by Miss Brechner, accompanied the girls' glee club and the chorus, besides playing numbers of their own. Charlotte Anderson sang a solo, and Harold Leise and Charlotte Cook a duet. Other numbers included a sextet, Bob Rhodes, LaVern Durbin, "The Three Blind Mice," and the "Weddin' of Little Nell."

Evelyn Yost and Carol Bucklin danced, and Wanda Goble gave a reading. The tumblers tumbled and the Girls' Club did a circus and soldier act.

The good ship "Edmonds" was piloted by Captain Allen Meyer.

Before closing your Echo, stop for a moment to get acquainted with the men and women who have made this annual possible. It is through their cooperation that we were able to give you the annual that you now have. As last year, the advertising was placed on posters and was on exhibit at all games, plays, and dances. Through this policy we feel that we have thus given them better advertising than that which is placed in the back of the annual. The following groups are those who purchased one-half, one-fourth, and one-eighth page, respectively. These business men are progressive and courteous. They deserve your patronage.
